¹ Note: Our firm may, under certain circumstances, rebut the presumption that a disciplinary event is material. If an event is immaterial, we are not required to disclose it. When we review a legal or disciplinary event involving Mr. Livingston. Mr. Livingston to determine whether it is appropriate to rebut the presumption of materiality, we consider all of the following factors: (1) the proximity of Mr. Livingston. Mr. Livingston to the advisory function; (2) the nature of the infraction that led to the disciplinary event; (3) the severity of the disciplinary sanction; and (4) the time elapsed since the date of the disciplinary event. If we conclude that the materiality presumption has been overcome, we prepare and maintain a file memorandum of our determination in our records. We follow SEC rule 204-2(a)(14)(iii) and similar state rules.

type of compensation Mr. Livingston receives. We must explain that this practice gives Mr. Livingston an incentive to recommend investment products based on the compensation received, rather than on your needs.

Mr. Livingston does not receive any other economic benefit for providing advisory services in addition to advisory fees.

- B. If Mr. Livingston is actively engaged in any business or occupation for compensation not discussed in response to Item 4.A, above, and the other business activity or activities provide a substantial source of Mr. Livingston' income or involve a substantial amount of Mr. Livingston' time, we are required to disclose this fact and must describe the nature of that business. If the other business activities represent less than 10 percent of Mr. Livingston' time and income, we may presume that they are not substantial.

Mr. Livingston has nothing to disclose in this regard.
